New Year Message from the ISG

Dear Friends,

A difficult year for many of us has ended. A short time ago a new one began which we hope will be more peaceful and less difficult.

The festive days found many of you at the forefront of duty, fulfilling the spirit of Christmas with generosity and solidarity, putting into practice our motto «SERVO PER AMIKECO».

Watching your tireless efforts and ongoing work, I would like to thank you all and assure you that I will try to be next to you, helping in the struggle to create a secure environment for society with solidarity and friendship.

The advent of the New Year marks the biggest challenges of our Association, which we will have to face together with hard work, efficiency and consistency, as happened in the early days of IPA.

I sincerely hope that the days of Christmas were peaceful, full of family warmth, with hope for the coming year.

So, on the occasion of this first IAC Newsletter of the New Year, I would like to wish you all a Happy and Prosperous New Year for you and your families, full of health, peace, hope and happiness.

George

2nd World Police Seminar – Australia - 2013

Following the success of the 1st IPA World Seminar for Young Police Officers which was organised by Section Netherlands in 2011, Delegates at the 37th IEC Conference in Romania voted to sponsor a second seminar in Australia. Information about this event, which will take place in Brisbane from 22nd – 26th April 2013, was sent to Sections on the 10th January this year.

Arthur Troop Scholarship 2013

Applications are invited for the Arthur Troop Scholarship 2013. The Procedures and application form can be found at Appendix 'B'.

Romania Workshop Report

The topic “What is the most effective way to use new technology to promote IPA?” prompted very interesting discussion within the 9 Groups at the 37th IEC in Romania last year. The results have been evaluated and a short report is attached at Appendix 'C'. The full report will be available soon on the website and in the Minutes of the IEC.

Message from ERC Chairman

“The ERC works for you in all the international institutions where the IPA is represented. In Appendix 'D' you can find an article from the Austrian IPA Newsletter about Franz Berger, our excellent representative within the UN in Vienna”.

Yours in Friendship
Daniel CONDAMINAS 1st IVP.

IPA World Police Prize

Nominations are invited for the IPA World Police Prize. According to the Procedure document (see Appendix 'E'), the WPP may be awarded to any individual or organisation for exceptional services rendered to the police service; to the IPA; or for the benefit of society on matters of human rights or the preservation of World Peace. Please send nominations and any relevant documentary evidence or supporting material to the IAC no later than 29th February 2012.

Olympic Games 2012 - Section UK

The 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games are being hosted in London and other UK towns and cities during July, August and September.

Section UK has received requests from overseas members asking for UK members to buy tickets on their behalf. The games are a friendship and sporting event. The IPA does not have an allocation of tickets and is not able to purchase tickets on behalf of others. Information about buying tickets can be found on the official website at www.london2012.com.

This year's games will be a challenge for the UK Police Service. Many officers will be sent to London (and other locations) from across the UK to assist with policing the games, with officers being away from home for several days at a time. It will not be possible either for serving police officers or IPA members to arrange visits or access to any of the Olympic venues.

Section UK has published Olympic related information on its website at www.ipa-uk.org/Olympics-2012.

Any further enquiries please contact Section UK Secretary General, Edwin Sutton, email address secretary-general@ipa-uk.org.

Bone Marrow Appeal Update

On 19th December Sections received an appeal on behalf of Section UK for help for Police Inspector Rik Basra. Rik was suffering from acute myeloid leukaemia and desperately needed a bone marrow transplant to save his life but there was a shortage of stem cell donors for his rare condition.

We are pleased to inform you that a donor was found in Germany and Rik is doing well after a transplant operation in late December.

37th IEC Conference, Bucharest 2011

WORKSHOP

WHAT IS THE MOST EFFECTIVE WAY TO USE NEW TECHNOLOGY TO PROMOTE IPA?

This year at the 37th IEC in Bucharest the PEB suggested holding a workshop for the delegates and observers, asking them to discuss the role of new technology in our organisation's life.

All 135 participants were placed in 9 groups according to their indicated language knowledge. Six English, one German, one French and one Spanish group were formed with 9 leaders.

We handed out a flyer to each participant to monitor the type of communication with IPA members in their own sections. We collected these flyers and evaluated the results. 55 sections were involved in this 'survey'.

Common consensus: No size fits all.

Our aim is to communicate with our members as often as possible: keeping them informed of ongoing activities, events, visitors, meetings. We all agreed on the fact that all available means within IPA and the police service should be used to communicate our message and news. Traditional means of communication are waning due to cost of postage and time involved. BUT it is still very necessary not to alienate or exclude any grouping within our association who may not be familiar with or have access to newer technology (i.e. maybe our older member).

E-mail communication is most common. Some Sections use e-mails all of the time and maybe one regular post (snail mail) per year. Internal e-mail is popular within the police service. Some police authorities allow access to all police e-mails addresses through IPA.

A Section's Webpage is a crucial area of communication. We can create news groups, such as groups who want to be informed about cultural events or sports events.

The importance of up-to-date information on the site was emphasised by all. Old or outdated material can and does, have a very negative effect and will not prompt revisits by our membership.

One suggestion from the groups was to look at easier types of translation technology and to review the current four official languages.

The Website competition was thought to be a good idea and one suggestion was that the ICC should host a Webmasters conference for all sections so that best value, improvements and ideas can be discussed.

New ways of communication include Facebook (FB). Some Sections have set up FB groups. In some countries officers are not allowed to set up Facebook with any mention of police, but most of the police forces use social networks as a platform for communication.

LinkedIn has been found successful in communicating amongst the higher ranks of our police authorities.

A suggestion was that perhaps either the IP or the IAC create a Twitter page and tweet IPA business and updates on that.

It seems no-one is using RSS feeds but we should look into this.

Sections are invited to visit www.qrsolutions.ie and learn of the uses and advantages of this new advertising tool and while on the site generate their own QR Code for FREE. The QR Code can be printed in Section magazine or flier, directing the reader (scanner) to the Section's Web address; email; phone; events; houses etc.... . Many of our members, particularly our younger members, own "Smart phones" and will find scanning the IPA QR Code a convenient and trouble-free way of keeping themselves informed of IPA business and follow-up enquiries or questions ... all through their one stop visit via their Smart phone. Sections are invited and encouraged to investigate this system and use it to the advantage of IPA.

If we want to promote IPA, we will have to be in the front-line with relevant materials, language, and means that enable us to communicate with young police officers, young recruits, police academy, police units and more. Relevant language is that used by young police officers: social networks, YouTube, Internet. If IPA is not there, we do not exist for them.

The new media is: relevant, quick, interactive, and controllable.

Security: As Police officials we must use new media in a responsible manner. We must be educated in security systems to avoid difficulties for the police.

You can control and use wisely any social network. You control and monitor the data. If there is a problem, delete it.

We spoke about the possibility of having a database of experts in various fields, e.g. police dogs, international policing but this requires a necessary level of security on the website. Log in and so on, but it could be used.

Group Nine was of that opinion that in the first instance, potential members needed to be exposed to IPA in some other form prior to them utilising electronic or social media to discover more about IPA. It was believed that the most effective way of exposure was through:

- Promotional visits to Police Academies
- Sponsorship of policing events
- Advertising of IPA website
- Distribution of promotional advertising material
- Personal contact with IPA members (word of mouth)

We should provide a period of coexistence between traditional and new communication technologies, long enough to get:

- ✓ All email addresses through respective national sections (using a promotional campaign in the respective web sites and newsletters).
- ✓ Help to those sections which do not have web site (with the help of other national sections).
- ✓ Identify and promote at least one social network to be used by IPA members and official web sites (Facebook?).
- ✓ Promote digital discussion forums.
- ✓ Introduce the IPA through digital encyclopedias such as Wikipedia. This case would be more work for our webmaster.
- ✓ Formation in new technologies. Especially in using new security issues around technologies (perhaps Gimborn could plan online training through the net?).
- ✓ Promoting links with the various committees: ERC- IPC-ICC-IIC-ISC), reporting past and future events (international and national website level)

IN CONCLUSION

- ✓ New technologies have the potential to accelerate IPA development.
- ✓ Processes involved include “creating, communicating, delivering, and exchanging offerings.”
- ✓ Frequently involves enduring relationships between partners.
- ✓ A main objective to use new technology, promoting IPA, is to create customer value (our members).

Franz Berger am Puls der Zeit

UNO Repräsentant Franz Berger vor dem VIC.

Sie sind rar gesäht auf dieser Welt, die UNO-Repräsentanten der IPA. Einer davon ist unser Wiener IPA Freund Franz Berger (Foto vor der UNO City Wien).

Der alte UN-Hase hat nicht nur viel Fingerspitzengefühl, sondern auch das Gespür, was den Menschen am meisten unter den Nägeln brennt. Momentan ist es zweifellos die Korruptionsplage.

Deshalb verfasste Berger ein aktuelles Statement aus international polizeilicher Sicht. Bei der UN-Tagung in Marakesch / Marokko soll er vor den Delegierten Gehör finden. Es wäre nicht das erste Mal, dass ein Bericht unseres Repräsentanten auf die Tagesordnung genommen und verlesen wird. Dieses „Kunststück“ in Diplomatentreisen zu schaffen, ist schon bemerkenswert!

Das Gebäude des VIC (Vienna International Centre) von den Wienern liebevoll UNO-City genannt, wurde 1979 eröffnet. Heute ist der unverwechselbare Gebäudekomplex selbst zur Institution und zu einem Wahrzeichen Wiens geworden. Die Vielzahl der dort arbeitenden Internationalen Organisationen haben den Ruf Wiens als Weltstadt gefestigt. Das VIC wurde für einen symbolischen „Pachtschilling“ (etwa 7 Cent) an die Vereinten Nationen für 99 Jahre vermietet. Dass es durch die im VIC Beschäftigten und die zahllosen Konferenzteilnehmer auch ein bedeutender Wirtschaftsfaktor geworden ist, ist ein erfreulicher Nebenaspekt.

Das VIC ist „extorriert“. Die Polizei hat nur über Ersuchen der UN Zutritt.

Im VIC arbeiten mehr als 4.500 Personen. Ein Drittel davon sind Österreicher.
